Whats Next

Looking to the future, The Unknown Theatre Company have just commissioned Lesley Ross and Matt Brind to write a new musical. The process of writing has already begun with workshops being held with our young people, writer and composer, to share ideas and learn new skills. These were highly successful and enjoyed by all and the writers now have lots of ideas to work from. We are hoping to perform this production in the autumn – look out for details. When Little Shop ends we will begin rehearsing for a musical evening at the beginning of September in Roath Church House – please ask for details. The autumn also sees the departure of Jonathan Mann to the Guildhall School of Music and Drama in London. The company would like to wish Jon every success for his future and thank him most sincerely for all the help and commitment he has shown to this company for the last year. If you wish to be added to our mailing list to be advised of future productions, please telephone 029 20 766056.

Acknowledgements

We would like to thank the following without which this show could not have been a success:

Roy, Phil, Graham and all the staff at Howardian Centre, Brian Shapcott and Tricia Burfoot of St Margaret's Church Hall, Don Reed, St Philips Church and Tremorfa Community Centre, Carlton Gronow for stepping in at the last minute to play the dentist, Joe Hood for his help with some Orchestration, Justine Mead for assistance with choreography, Alan Blakoe of Stage Lighting Services, Marigold Costumes, R.A.T.S. Huw Gough and GW Stage FX, Jean Gray, Australian Welsh Printers, Mark Coleman Design and of course all the parents of the children for their help as chaperones, with costumes and taxi service to the cast! The Unknown Theatre Company would also like to thank The Welsh Amateur Music Federation, NODA, Glamorgan Drama League and the Drama Association of Wales for their support.
